

Comment from David Chapman

I have a 2007 Cadillac Escalade with 62000 miles and a potentially deadly airbag for a passenger. Why is this going on for years? The same thing was replaced in reasonable time on my 2008 Chevy. Why does it seem NHTSA is aiding GM at waiting out and burying this problem. I spoke to GM today and they blame NHTSA.

Please respond as this has never been inconsequential for me. Thanks
