As an owner of one of these vehicles I am very disappointed that this process has dragged on so long. All the other cars that I owned that were affected by Takata recalls were repaired by the manufacturer on a fairly timely basis (Honda, Infiniti and BMW). This vehicle spent most of its life 200 yards from the Gulf of Mexico at our home in Galveston, TX and if any unit would fail it would be ours. My request is that a final decision be rendered ASAP.
