I am extremely upset with Chevrolet and with NHTSA with the continuous delay with a factual resolution of this revealed defect. I figured that with the 2016 initial notice that this would be soon resolved and taken care of. Although I am very pleased with the operation of my 2006 Tahoe I now, after 13 years, find myself concerned every time I get behind the wheel that I am putting my family's life at risk. Whether Chevrolet is drawing this out just to save money is not my concern. Continued delay is my concern. Can we get this resolved?
