

Vince Wenger - Comments

These trucks must be tested under EVERY POSSIBLE scenario that would occur to a human driver and they must in EVERY SINGLE situation be able to outperform EVERY human before they should be allowed on our roads. Take a look at the Uber car that hit the pedestrian in Tempe, Arizona on March 18. I have watched the video and it is apparent that a fast thinking human could have swerved to avoid the pedestrian. It was an empty road!! Until a self driving truck can think like a human and determine the best course of travel taking human life into consideration they should never be allowed to drive the same roads as our wives and children do!!