

Randall North - Comments

After 36 years, the most difficult part of my day is staying awake. It always has been. After 36 years, I consider myself an expert on fatigue and drowsy driving. I'm sure there are many like me, but likely, most most washed out for one reason or another. Reducing the drivers "hands on" duty's will increase the risk of fatigue and drowsy driving significantly for some, if not all drivers that participate.