

William Duggan - Comments

Every year, thousands of people are killed and many more injured in vehicle accidents, with the majority of the accidents involving human error. Please fast track regulations which allow for the research and development of new driverless technologies, which have the potential to save countless lives and free up labor for more productive tasks.

Thanks,
APWU member.