

Donta Green - Comments

I don't think self-driving trucks are idea for any parts of Colorado, specially in the mountains in the winter time. People have hard enough times trying to make it over the passes, spinning out losing and control. Guess my question for you is who's going to chain it up?