

Robert Smith - Comments

This should not be allowed.

The vehicles in question are not safe to be tested in real world conditions.

You can control the vehicle . However you cannot control traffic and weather that the vehicles encounter. Simply no way possible for the technology to to compensate for all unforeseen conditions