

Richard Hoffman - Comments

Can not agree on this, so many circumstances happen on the highway that these driverless vehicles have not been able to react to. And to say the least those circumstances could cause a fatality