

Jason Wells - Comments

In Reference to (2019-0037) So many questions for this Automated Truck Experiment. If the Trains are derailing, Planes crashing and Ships wrecking due to the same or similar technologies then we can all assume the same ill fate for Big Rigs. I for one cannot support 80 thousand pds rolling down are Highways around innocent people that may be put in a deadly situation such as a Autonomous Trucks. Are we so blind to let Corporate America become so greedy that Jobs and even people's Lives become meaningless? What happens if when you get that phone call and your whole Family has just been mowed over by this Great New Technology that you supported? There are so many variables when driving a Commercial Vehicle that require a Seasoned Driver to make such quick decisions that cannot just simply be replaced by a Computerized Sensors and Radar peice of Junk. Keep the Drivers in the seat.