

William Underwood - Comments

Automated Commercial Transportation is a ticking timebomb... with the disastrous start to the self-driving car, the trucking industry should put this on the back burner for another decade Minimum