The Legendary Henry Ford and Alfred P. Sloan, the Founders of Ford Motor Company and General Motors, are "rolling over" at the weakness of current car company executives willing to spend more money on a car that is not as safe or good, and cost $3,000 more to consumers. Crazy!

I love it when the WH aides try to write posts that mimics Trump's inarticulate stylings while still constructing coherent GOP talking points. Hey, question: who has to change Trump's drool cup to draw him away from Twitter while you guys do this? #25thAmendmentNow

What's crazy is being a chemistry and physics denier. What's crazy is not caring about the future that exists after your short time on Earth. What's crazy is wanting to rake in as much money as you can before the climate shit HITS the fan. And literally being the CAUSE of it.

The CEOs of Ford and GM are not likely to take business advice from a man who squandered his dad's money on multiple failed businesses, declared bankruptcy 3 times, and has been living off risky credit (and possibly illegal foreign loans) since then.
