

Comment from Phil Escalade, owner

How has nothing happened about this I find it absolutely insane that this has continued on this long. We can have court rulings over less significant items, such as people licking ice cream, but we cant get our heads out of our ass to get this solved. People are dying. Families are at risk. Shame on every single person that has allowed this to continue. If you have not demanded a recall for these Vehicles, you are part of the problem.

I am stuck with his vehicle that I paid a lot of money for and have to worry about the safety of my family everyday of our lives. I plead and beg to all of the litigators, advocates, NHTSA employees, judges, employees of General motors, and whoever else would consider reading this to please recall the vehicles listed and affected by NHTSA-2016-0124.

I understand General Motors will incur an estimated $1.2 billion loss because of this. However, theyve already taken the revenue but Im stuck with their problem. This is their problem to fix and their responsibility to the public to fix.

All the consumers affected, like myself, that paid money for a safe vehicle and were sold something that is not safe.

You have a responsibility to the safety of the public and regardless of what general motors continues to say that would defer this recall, it is obvious that Takata has a world-wide issue and that there vehicles are not safe.