

Comment from Anatoliy Schmoukler

Enough of this camera stuff. Mirrors work fine and we don't need another screen/night vision, etc in the car. In the world where majority of people agree that so called "safety devices" causing more distraction than protection, where most people turn off most of these, who wants another such thing in the cabin?