

Comment from Mark McKinney

Rear seat belt warning alerts on school buses will be a source of driver distraction. Students wanting to annoy the driver will have a tool to do so right at their fingertips. This will also place an increased burden on technicians, who are already in short supply in the school bus industry.