

Kathy McCreedy - Comments

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), it is critical that the proposed rule is modified to require a consistent, clear and recognizable sound for silent cars. Allowing any sound to meet the requirements of the rule will be confusing to those who need an audible signal that there is a car in the roadway. I worked with a woman who is blind and who was independent in travel for many years but the silent electric cars have been a deterrant to safe travel. There has to be standardization of the sound to acceptably address the purpose for which the ruling is being implemented.