Frankly, I'm appalled by the fact that we do not already allow ADB headlights in the US. Why must lives continue to be lost because of archaic laws that have never been based on 'real life' driving? You cannot ride in a vehicle equipped with ADB headlights and not immediately see the benefits. Same for driving by one of them as the oncoming driver.

We need to adopt ADB with the European standards immediately. PLEASE, just get it done already and quit with all the 'red tape'.
