

Comment from Cooper Naitove

Just like we would never wear a fake Rolex, we don't want to drive fake cars. Why is the 1/1 so important for this? It doesn't make the cars any safer and is an arbitrary restriction. There should be room for companies to make cars inspired by cars from the past without having to be a 1/1 replica. Just like cafe racer culture did for motorcycles, this will usher in a whole new era and type of enthusiast. People deserve to drive cars, not computers. For the people who want a simple car but don't want some replica, please allow us to use our own creativity and not be shackled to only what's been done before.