

Comment from Thomas Stickrath

Ohio finds the evaluation tool to be comprehensive and not lacking in any area. This assessment may be too detailed in areas outside the scope of the traffic safety office, making it difficult to obtain the needed information. We found the law enforcement section thorough given the inclusion of the DRE component. Also relevant to Ohio, in the Toxicology section, was the questions that are commonly discussed in the Ohio Traffic Safety Office with respect to training, equipment, and processing time.