

Comment from David DeVeau

Automated Vehicles (AV) need to have aircraft like control of course to waypoints and the ability to react with environment to avoid a collision.

Passenger Vehicles need ability to protect all passengers in applicable seating positions in each type of rated crash.

We look forward to these amendments to rules that clarify what is being applied and updates to safety standards that clarify what is being tested and of course under which conditions at what speed.