Re: Docket NHTSA-2019-0126

Hyundai Motor America supports the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) and automotive industry efforts to raise awareness and make rear seat reminder systems standard features on new vehicles in the near future. Making these systems standard equipment will help prevent child deaths from heatstroke in vehicles.

To do its part, Hyundai Motor America will voluntarily make its Rear Occupant Alert (ROA) door-logic system standard on most of its new vehicles by 2022. It will also make its optional Ultrasonic ROA, or a similar sensor-based system, available on more of its models in the future.

Pursuant to Hyundai’s voluntary commitment to advancing rear occupant alert, Hyundai currently offers ROA technology in the following 2019-2021 model year vehicles:
