

Comment from Frustrated Citizen

The NHTSA and this whole petition process is a farce. This department is a waste of taxpayers dollars and is placing consumers' safety at risk through it's inaction and incompetence in resolving this safety recall petition after four and a half years on the docket. This is a prime example of why there is a total lack of public trust in and a general disdain for federal bureaucracies.