

Comment from Daniel Larson

I hope that this action opens up rental access to better classes of cars as well. In recent years I have been unable to rent a premium car because the rental company was not willing to make the modifications to an expensive car. Maybe that will help to change that situation?