

Elaine Smith - Comments

About a year ago I was diagnosed with seven different illnesses that required immediate attention I could not get that proper attention I needed due to not having transportation my license was taken I believe just for fines and fees and child support which I cleared up however I still have been unable to get any assistance I then tried to get my son's license reinstated because he had become my caretaker and I'm not getting any help in that area either I've also requested waivers to try to get the fees waived because I was a victim of covid yet nothing has been getting done at all and I've reached out to motor vehicle I tried requesting a hearing I tried doing appeals nothing is getting done a company out here in Colorado from any place else what are my options I've already exhausted options where I'm at I've lost my place on a transplant registry because of this as well I've lost seven doctors because I can't get to and from appointments I need infusions chemotherapy and nothing is getting done