Comment from Steven Yu

How is this not a thing already? It makes things far more efficient just by changing to a camera based system.
You guys should already be looking at what the requirements for those cameras should be. Not whether or not camera instead of mirrors should be allowed in the first place