

Comment from Norris Smith

Please consider the particularly poor reputation of Tesla, including its treatment of unions, when deliberating on the issue of credits. Rather than a stark contrast between traditional automakers versus EVs, a better differentiator would arguably be ethical, environmental, and financial respectability.