Car horns are alarming and polluting for humans within earshot. As a cyclist, I have been almost knocked off my bike when a horn went off within a few feet of me, so they are a road danger, too. Because they are nevertheless essential as safety devices (only) in case of imminent emergency, they cannot be banned. However, there is one change that would dramatically diminish their use for frivolous purposes: MAKE CAR HORNS AS LOUD INSIDE CARS as outside them. It's a simple fix.
